About the Book

Baby Catcher is a compelling and eye-opening memoir by Liz Cather, a modern-day midwife who has dedicated her life to helping women bring new life into the world. Through her vivid storytelling and insightful observations, Liz shares the joys, challenges, and profound experiences of her work as a midwife.

From attending home births to supporting women in hospital settings, Liz encounters a wide range of families and birth experiences. She shares heartwarming stories of successful births, as well as heartbreaking accounts of loss and disappointment. Through it all, she remains a steadfast advocate for women's choices and the power of natural birth.

Baby Catcher is not just a memoir; it is also a powerful call to action. Liz challenges the medicalization of birth and argues for a more holistic approach to pregnancy and childbirth. She believes that women should have the right to choose where and how they give birth, and that midwives should play an essential role in supporting them.

About the Author

Liz Cather is a certified professional midwife (CPM) and the founder of the Midwifery Center for Birth and Women's Health in Portland, Oregon. She has attended over 1,000 births and is a passionate advocate for women's health and the power of natural birth.

Liz is also a gifted speaker and writer. She has been featured in numerous publications, including The New York Times, The Washington Post, and NPR. Her work has helped to raise awareness about the importance of midwifery and the need for more holistic approaches to pregnancy and childbirth.
