In Budapest, Jane worked tirelessly to improve the lives of the poor and marginalized. She established soup kitchens, day care centers, and nursing homes, bringing hope and relief to countless individuals.

A Time of Darkness

As the dark clouds of World War II gathered over Europe, Jane's work became increasingly challenging. In 1941, Hungary joined the Axis powers, and the persecution of Jews began.

Jane refused to abandon her Jewish students and colleagues. She continued to provide them with food, shelter, and spiritual support, even as the danger to herself grew.

In April 1944, Jane was arrested by the Hungarian authorities and taken to the notorious Ravensbrück concentration camp in Germany. Despite the unimaginable horrors she witnessed and endured, Jane's faith and determination never wavered.

She became a beacon of hope for her fellow prisoners, offering them comfort, encouragement, and unwavering love. Jane's indomitable spirit and compassionate presence inspired those around her, reminding them of the power of human kindness.

A Tragic Sacrifice

On August 17, 1944, Jane Haining was executed by the Nazis. She was 47 years old. Her tragic death shocked and saddened the world, but her legacy of love and courage lived on.

Jane Haining's story is a testament to the extraordinary power of one person to make a difference. Her unwavering faith, selfless service, and indomitable spirit continue to inspire people around the world.
