Excerpt from Chapter 1: Identifying Your Values and Goals

The first step to planning for the future is to identify your values and goals. Your values are the principles that guide your life, and your goals are the things you want to achieve. Once you know what your values and goals are, you can start to create a plan that will help you achieve them.

To identify your values, ask yourself the following questions:

- What is important to me in life?
- What do I want to achieve?
- What kind of person do I want to be?

Once you have a good understanding of your values, you can start to identify your goals. Your goals should be specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound. For example, instead of saying "I want to be rich," you could say "I want to earn $100,000 per year within the next five years."

Once you have identified your values and goals, you can start to create a plan that will help you achieve them. This plan should be flexible and adaptable, as the future is always uncertain.

Planning For The Future In An Uncertain World is an essential guide for anyone who wants to create a better future for themselves. This book will provide you with the tools and strategies you need to navigate life's challenges and achieve your goals.
